Silver`s Break-Out

Spot Silver prices increased on average by 28% in December; quite remarkable; while gold also set new records breaking the $4,500 barrier.

Other precious metals joined in the bull run with substantial gains in Platinum (+26%), Palladium (+64%) and Rhodium (+32%).

The US$ remains weak against all major currencies, with the Rand now trading at R16.60/$ which takes us back to July 2022.

Precious metal prices went through a volatile period at the end of December. However, demand remains strong for gold and silver so we can expect further gains in January and beyond.

We trust you had a wonderful Christmas while we optimistically look forward to a solid and positive 2026.
