April Newsletter

In March we learnt energy, as in oil and gas, is just as important as gold and silver. As the Iran War broke out, we saw gold and silver go down, while oil and gas went up.

Precious metal prices have since stabilized, while Trump keeps the world guessing what he will do next.

Indications are this war could end in April, after which we can expect energy prices to decrease and precious metals to increase. Markets however are jittery, so we prefer the word "could" and not the word "will"!

Happy Easter!
